

LEWIS CIVIL ENGINEERING ATTAINS PRESTIGIOUS FORS BRONZE ACCREDITATION

November 2015

The Fleet Operator Recognition Scheme (FORS) is a voluntary scheme for fleet operators. Its purpose is to raise the level of quality within fleet operations, and to demonstrate which operators are achieving the standards.

Set up in 2008, the scheme now has 4000 active members who go through a yearly reassessment to ensure standards are maintained.

Mark Henson, Transport Coordinator for Lewis Civil Engineering said “FORS has encouraged us to take a closer look at ourselves and identify areas of strength to be exploited and areas for improvement to be addressed. Successful bronze assessment has reassured us that our operation is being run safely, efficiently and in an environmentally sound manner.”

Dave Boden, Managing Director for Lewis Civil Engineering said “We are delighted to have received this bronze award and it is recognition of the many initiatives, processes and systems that Lewis Civil Engineering has put in place over the last few years. The FORS logo allows potential customers to readily distinguish us from other operators.”
